President

REV. THEODORE J. MEHLING, C.S.C.

The new president set high standards of enterprise and achievement in his first year as head of the University. He used well his seven years' experience as dean of studies to guide the school through the most successful year of its history. By a wise disposition of available space on the campus, by acquiring new buildings and new equipment, by an unceasing thoughtfulness and constant concern for the welfare of the returning veteran, he merited and won the praise of faculty and student body alike.

Vice President

REV. FRANCIS P. GOODALL, C.S.C.

Our new vice-president came to us in September with a wealth of experience as a highly-trained graduate of the mission fields of India, and as a public relations man for the University of Notre Dame. He impressed the entire student body from the first with his inspiring sermons during the Retreat at the beginning of the school year.

Dean of Studies

REV. JOHN J. HOBYBOER, C.S.C.

The untiring zeal of our new dean of studies was taxed to the limit this year with his new duties of handling the largest student body in the history of the school . . . 1,729 students.

Seniors of 1947

THE SENIOR CLASS MIRRORS CLEARLY THE MAN-OF-THE-FUTURE'S DESIRE FOR UNIVERSITY TRAINING. MANY SENIORS, HAVING STARTED THEIR COLLEGE CAREERS IN THE 1930's ARE NOW BACK TO PICK UP WHERE THEY LEFT OFF WHEN THE WAR FORCED THEM TO SURRENDER THEIR TEXTS FOR ARMS.

ACTIVITIES

JACK GOETZE, Vice-President
VINCE PESKY, President
ROBERT COOPER, Secretary
Student Activity Council

POLLY KRUEGER, President
Nurses Activity Council

The activities councils labored under a special handicap this year. The student body was composed of older men more interested in completing their education than in participating in the "Joe College" fun. Furthermore, attendance at dances, athletic events, club meetings, and publication assignments had to compete with the need of feeding a family and walking the floor with the baby. Many of the traditional organizations of the campus fell by the wayside. Those remaining active did so only because of the persistence of officers.

Chorus

Under the guidance of Father Dum, the Nurses Chorus was active as ever. The highlights of the year were the Christmas concert at the nurses home and the Paramount Theatre concert.

The Sodality

in honor of the Blessed Mother

A society for the promotion of religious, cultural, and devotional activities among the nurses.

Concerts

During the Fall, the students of the University had the pleasure of attending a concert in Howard Hall given by Ruth and Henri Arcand at the piano.

The soprano concert by the internationally famous Lotte Lehmann was one of the highlights of the school year. Howard Hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The Business Ad Club

The club had many invited lecturers at their meetings. They were ably led by Professor Peterschmidt.

The Philosophical Society

Under the guidance of Father Riter the philosophers engaged in many discussions, one of the most interesting being the debate on Communism.

The Gleemen

The Glee Club was led by Pat Fordney as President and Father Dum as director. Besides the concerts at Christmas and at the Paramount Theater together with the Nurses Chorus, the men traveled to Seattle and Vancouver, B. C.

Student Nurses Council

Ellen Steffen was elected president of the Oregon State Student Nurses Council.

The Biolog

Editor Stan Brown produced one issue of the Biologists' club organ, but hopes to return next year to the quarterly issue. Several research projects are in progress for material.

The Body Builders

With the return of Phil Loprenzi from the wars, the body builders became very active again.

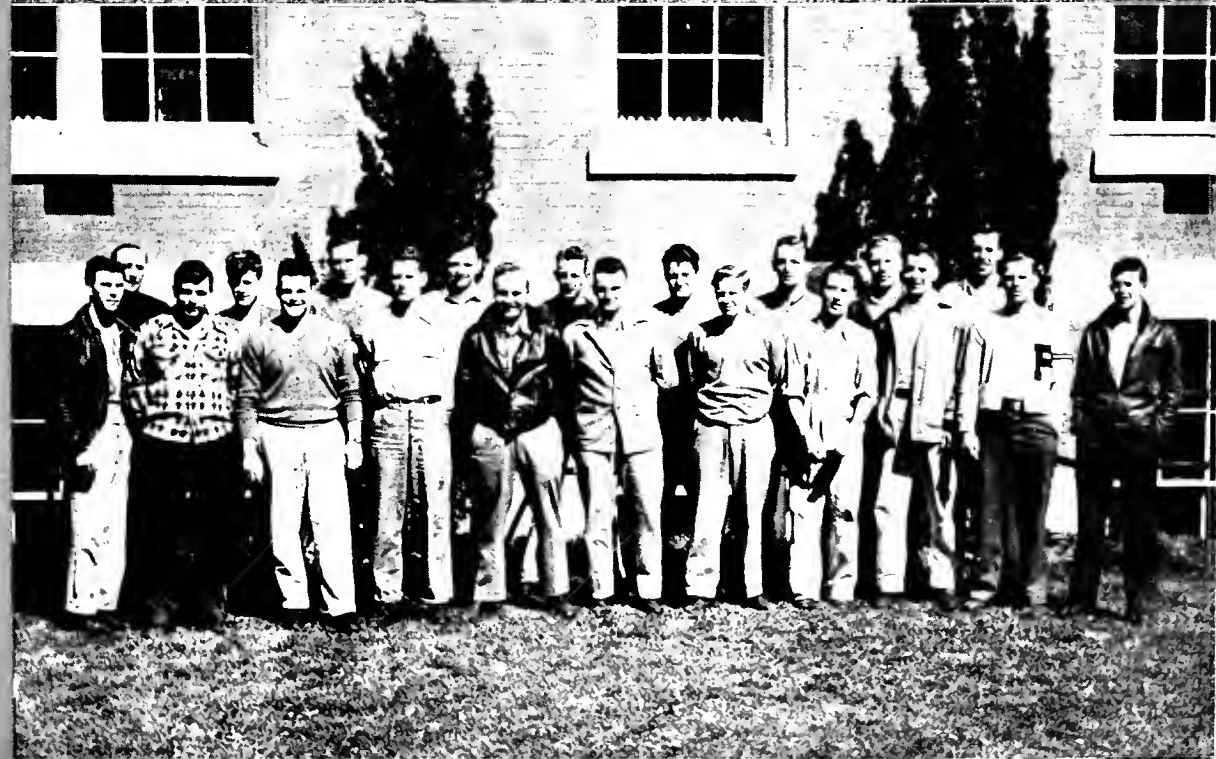

Grunts and groans flowed from the lower floor of the gym practically any time of the day or night.

The Campus Club

Once more the rooms of Christie Hall were filled with Cliff Dwellers. Old faces (and voices) such as Genial Rector Father Kane, President Wayne Parrish, and Many others were present. The vast number of boarders created a crowd so large that Christie could not hold it. The overflow filled the "Annex", sometimes referred to as "Vanport Hall." The boarders participated in all the interhall sports.

Convocations

John Wolff as Student Representative and Father Dum as Faculty Advisor brought to the campus several groups of entertainers for the mid-morning recess on the average of once a week.

Director Richard Clemo of the speech department presented two plays during the year: "Out of the Frying Pan" and "Mr. and Mrs. North."

The Beacon

For the first semester Norman McCormick edited the Beacon, and during the second semester the post was held by Grant Skelley. The popular school newspaper returned to its prewar weekly appearance, and actually grew in size under the faculty direction of Mr. Russell Hays.

The Monogram Club

With many more old faces than new, the Lettermen made radical changes in their activities. President Sam Cavelli and his fellow officers did away with the rough initiation ceremonies and replaced them by work on the boxing show presented during the Spring in Howard Hall.

Alpha Tau Delta

VIRGINIA ROONEY
President

NANCY GOODNOW
Treasurer

This National Honorary Society formally initiated twenty-two pledges at their mid-winter meeting. Meetings were held in conjunction with the University of Oregon. They plan a Spring recruitment of nurses.

Junior Prom

Engineers Club

Oregon mist halted the first project of the Engineers, the leveling of the baseball diamond. Three dances filled out the social calendar, the Fall Frolic, New Year's Formal and the Spring Formal. Brother Godfrey, as usual, has plans for big things next year, especially the resurrection of the Quadrant.

The Band

Mr. Verne Preston was not able to increase the size of the band this year. The small group that was active, played for several campus events.

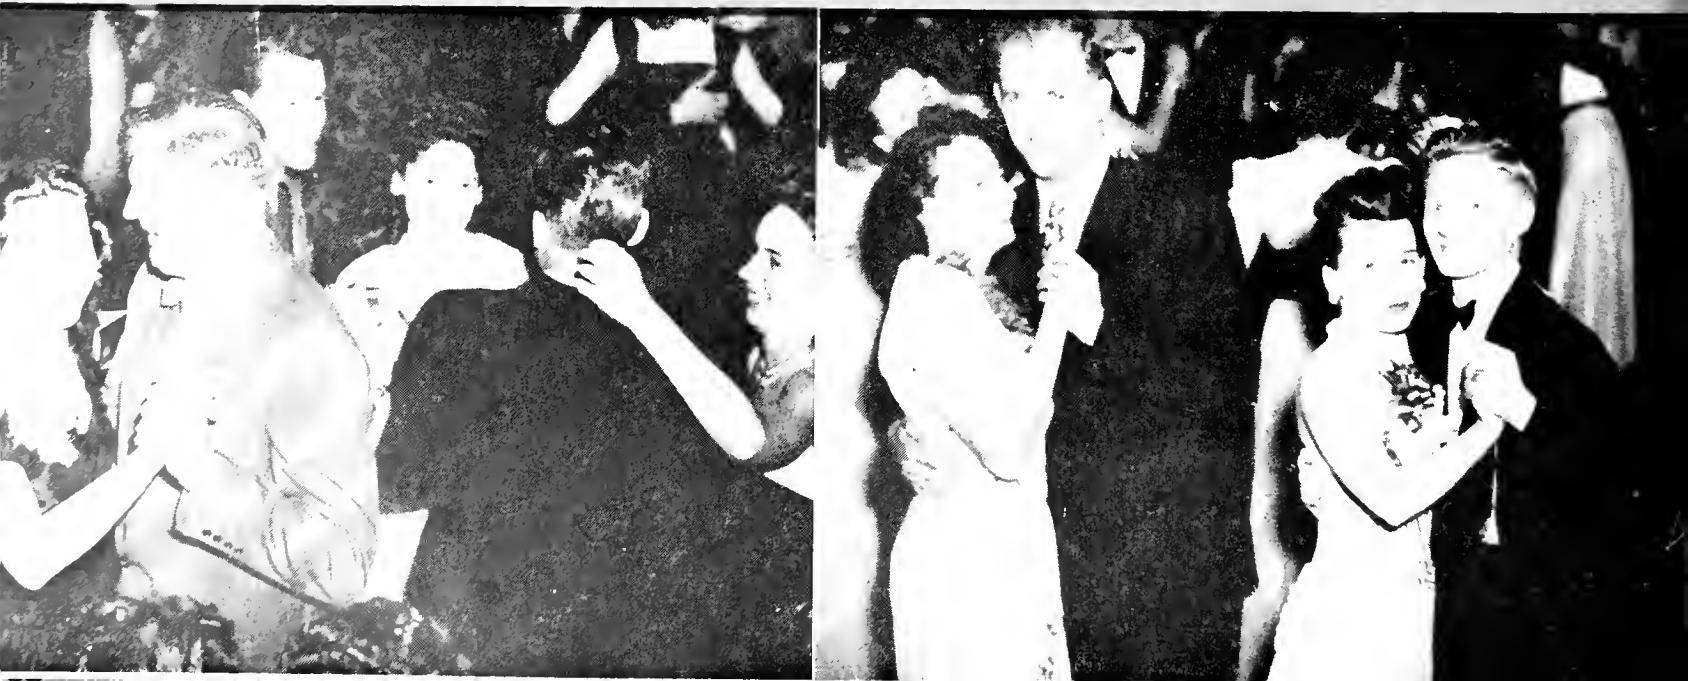

The Biologists' Club

The "Bug" club was as active as ever this year with regular meetings at which prominent speakers in the field of medicine and science appeared. Father Molter and Dr. Horton have plans for many research projects in the future. William Postles acted as president of the club and Mario Campagna as vice-president.

Senior Ball

Beta Beta Beta

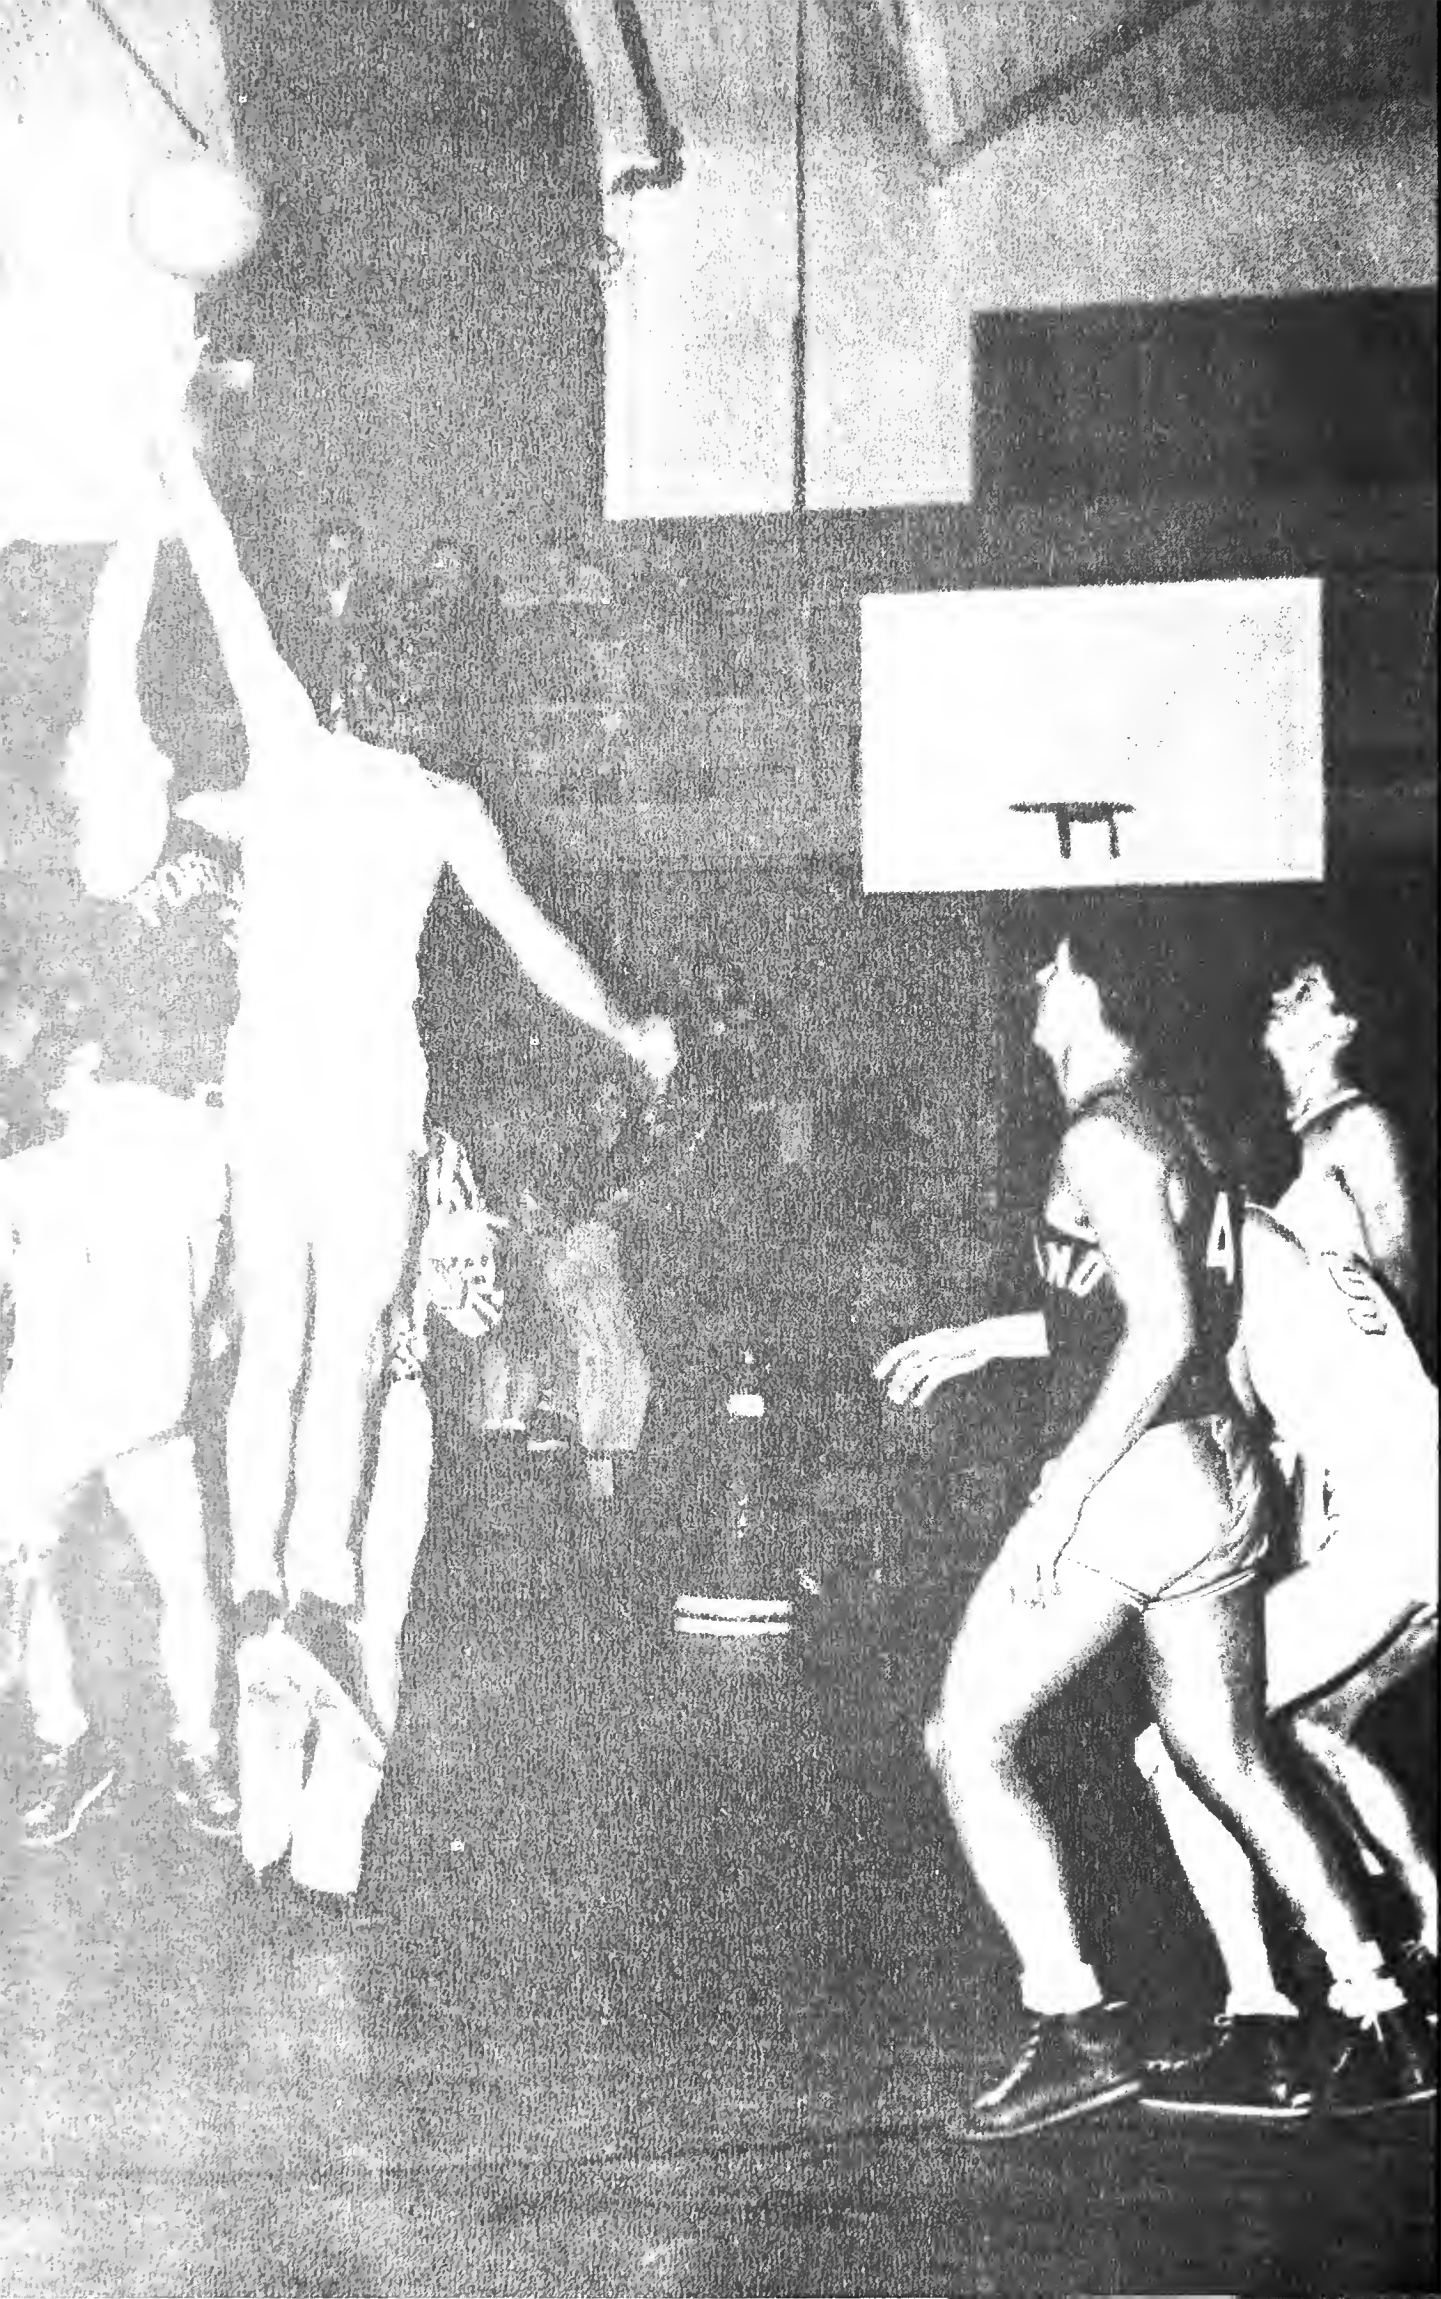

This national honorary society for biology majors pledged a large class in the Spring to insure the continuation of their work in the future. The impressive ceremony was held in the parlor of the Nurses' Home and was followed by a banquet at the Broiler. The president of the society was Mario Campagna, the vice-president was Helen Balch.

The past grid season was little short of disastrous for Portland's Pilots, who came through a ten-game schedule with only two wins and one tie to their credit. Both of the victories were wrapped up while the Purple and White squad was on the road. Down in Arizona, the Cliffdwellers rang the bell twice and came through with an extra point to grab a 13-0 win over the Tempe State Bulldogs. They polished off the otherwise unfortunate season with a 12-point victory over the Hawaiian All-Stars during their Island invasion.

Portland managed to chalk up only an 81-point season total while their opponents cracked the 200-mark for a final count of 205. Of 81 Pilot points, 78 were made on 13 touchdowns and only three on conversions. With the Leilehua Alumni Hawaiians leading the pack to the tune of eight touchdowns in the season opener, the opposition accumulated 31 touchdowns and booted the leather over the crossbar 19 times for extra points. The Hawaiians made a grand total of 93 points in their two games, accounting for half the points scored against the Pilots during the season.

Even though the statistics are lopsided, Line Coach Carl Jorgenson reports that under the existing conditions the Cliffdwellers didn't do badly. The squad was handicapped in many ways. Outstanding among these was the lack of experience with which the nearly 100% freshman team started the season. Although spring practice was held last year, only a few of the season's varsity were present and the remainder didn't arrive on the campus until fall. Having never worked together before, the gridsters were difficult to mold into a smoothly working machine, and it was late in the season that they began to click.

The Pilots opened their first football season in three years against the Hawaiian All-Stars at Multnomah Stadium. Starting the game with two fast touchdowns on the All-Stars and a conversion for a total of 13 points. From there on the Hawaiians took over the ball game in no uncertain terms. Bringing with them a neat bag of tricks, the swivel-hipped All-Stars ran wild to bring the final score to a total of 54 to 13 for the Hawaiians. After this bad first game, the Pilots went through the season playing good tough football.

In the opening game of the season, Portland's Jayvees bowed to the Oregon College of Education at LaGrande. Beaten by a 7 to 6 score, the junior varsity lost a heart-breaker because of a bad kick for the extra point. The Jayvees lost their second game to the Fort Lewis Engineers, after holding them to a 6 to 6 tie during the first half. The undefeated Engineers came back in the second half to score twice more and wind up the score 20 to 7. In their best performance of the year, the junior varsity brought a 20 to 9 win over the Lewis and Clark team to wind up the season with two losses and one win.

The Portland Pilots, playing the toughest schedule of games in the history of the sport on the cliff, against some of the standout teams of the Pacific Coast, rolled up a game average of 48.4 points. They played outstanding ball all season, winning 13 out of 31 games, ten of their losses going to some of the nations top teams, such as Oregon State and Nevada. Playing for the first time together, the practically all-freshman team looks forward to a bigger and better season next year. Hitting their stride late in the season, the Pilots will be out for blood in the next year's court season.

The Pilot Baseball team, under Coach "Mush" Torson, is looking for scalps along the Coast this spring. With lots of material and many of last year's stars returning to play this year, the Pilots look for a good year with lots of action and chance to make Portland's name known in Pacific Coast College baseball.

The University of Portland Ski Club was formed during the 1946-47 fall semester, to promote interest in winter sports and skiing in particular. More than 100 enthusiasts of the sport of slat artistry appeared on the membership rolls to take part in an action-filled program outlined by the executive committee. Highlight of the year was the successful Class C Giant Slalom race held at Mt. Hood on February 16th. Pilot skiers proved their ability by taking five of the first ten places in the men's division to place skiing high on the list of minor sports at Portland University.

COACH JORGENSEN, BERRY, TOOL, THORPE, THALHOFER, BAHLER, PETERSEN.

Starting the season with a surplus of players, Coach Carl Jorgenson cut the Tennis team to the six who make up the squad at this time. Making one of their best showings against Lewis and Clark, the Pilots outclassed their opponents with a 5 to 2 score. After a slow start, the Pilot netmen hit their stride and expect to wind up the season with a healthy balance on the win side of the ledger.

Opening their schedule with a loss to the College of Puget Sound, the Portland Golf team completely outclassed Lewis and Clark, 25 to 2, and then received a golf lesson from Oregon State College, taking a loss of 23 to 4. Under a ladder elimination system, Coach Jorgenson cut the team to its present size.

Coach George Philbrook started off his return to the Portland campus by taking a green, but willing, Pilot cinder track to a second place in a three-way meet with Oregon State and Pacific University. In their second meet, the Pilots proved their strength by swamping Vanport College in nearly all of the events.
